ROANOKE, VA., APRIL 29, 1894.

UNITED STATES SENATOR PATRICK WALSH, of Georgia, who is editor of the Augusta Chronicle, is evidently one of the strong backers of the Southern Industrial Congress, and from this fact its success is assured.

THE movement mentioned in another column as being made in the schools of the country against cigarette smoking among pupils is one which will commend itself to every thoughtful person. The youth of the land in acquiring the habit of cigarette smoking soon finds himself a slave to one of the most pernicious and exacting practices. A league formed among the school boys would be entered into with the eagerness of youth and would doubtless be productive of much good.

It is to be hoped that calm and careful consideration, augmented by concessions from both sides will prevail in the controversy now pending between the Norfolk and Western railroad and its employees and that no strike will result. The direful effect of such a move would be a sorry thing to contemplate.
Whatever the termination it would be disastrous to the road and men alike. It would cripple the business prospects of the road, now apparently looking brighter and more propitious; it would tend to impoverish men whose condition has not been the best during the past months of business depression and lack of employment. The general meeting of the railroad is to be held in this city on Wednesday next, and it is to be hoped that the differences can be amicably settled at that time.

THE Roanoke baseball team is seemingly in a bad condition, and it is the general opinion that something needs to be done and done quickly to bring them to the standard expected and absolutely required by a team representing this city in the Virginia State league. Bad rumors have been in circulation concerning the members of the team, the truth of which we will not endeavor to pass upon. Certain it is that a nine which played so well in the first two games in Petersburg has some redeeming qualities, which have not been shown in the subsequent contests. Where the fault lies should be determined upon at once and remedied. THE TIMES but voices the sentiment of the enthusiasts in the city in expressing the opinion that a manager from Roanoke and a member of the Athletic Club should be with the team during its trips away. Confidence in the fact that the affairs were being looked after as only a man interested in the welfare of the club would ensure can only be secured by this arrangement.

ANOTHER CONFERENCE HELD.

The Union Officials Will Return to Roanoke This Week.

The committee of railroad men had a conference with Vice-President and General Manager Joseph H. Sands yesterday in regard to restoring wages to the old figure on the first of May.
The result of the conference is not known, but it is probable that nothing definite was determined upon, as the members of the committee, who left for their homes yesterday, expect to return to Roanoke some time this week.

N. & W. TRAINS COLLIDE.

A Fireman Named George Simons Badly Scalded.

HUNTINGDON, W. Va., April 28.—A local freight train, south bound and a north-bound through freight train on the Norfolk and Western railroad collided this morning when rounding a curve some distance up the road. The trains came together with an awful crash.

All the men in the cabs jumped but George Simons, a fireman on the local train setting by the engineer, was badly scalded. The loss by the wreck is large and trains were delayed all day.
Several tramps also were badly injured. The track was cleared to-night.

Arrested on a Serious Charge.

CHARLESTON, Kanawha Co., W. Va., April 28.—Ward Vallendingham went to the home of Rev. Mr. Hart, a Presbyterian minister, at Ronceverte last night during the absence of the family, and forced Miss Maud Roswell from the house and outraged her. He was arrested and held on a charge of rape, which is a capital offense in this State.
He is about twenty-one years old and she is about the same age. The prisoner has been removed to prevent lynching.

tion of Mr. Long.

FOREPAUGH'S GREAT SHOWS.

The World's Champion Jumping Horse to be Introduced.

WHEN the first announcements by the Adam Forepaugh shows were sent out, a distinctive arena novelty was promised. It created a considerable amount of speculation when it was remembered how scarce such things as novelties in a circus are and how difficult they are to obtain. But the management of the shows maintain their reputation as usual, and so they will introduce to the public the first appearance in a circus of the champion jumping horse of the world. The term champion is not used in this instance without consideration for its meaning, for it is the champion Filemaker, that is referred to. All horsemen know that he holds the record for the highest jumping in the world, and know also that he has never before been exhibited to the public in this manner.

His record is clearing a bar 7 feet 4½ inches high, with a mistress, Mme.
Marantette, in the saddle. It is difficult to believe that a horse can jump so high, and yet it is a fact. Filemaker is a large horse, 17 hands and 1 inch high and weighs 1,340 pounds. Mme. Maran-tette, who is the greatest horsewoman that ever lived, will also introduce Jupiter, a little imported Welsh pony, who stands only 48 inches high, and yet has a record of 5 feet 7½ inches—a performance even more wonderful than that of Filemaker, everything considered.
She also owns and will show at each exhibition the champion park and saddle horse of the world, Evergreen, who is said to be by far the handsomest horse ever foaled in the State of Kentucky, the birthplace of the finest horses in the world. They will be seen on Wednesday next, when the Adam Forepaugh Shows will be here.

Traveling Salesman Suicides at Richmond —RICHMOND, April 28.—C. M. Carpenter, aged about 40, a traveling salesman for the paint house of J. W. Masury & Sons, of Chicago and New York, but who registered from Baltimore, committed suicide at the Hotel Dodson here to-day by taking twenty-five grains of morphine.

No cause for the act is known except that Mr. Carpenter had been drinking.

"REMEMBER that you can see a good show next week for 10, 20 and 30 cents."

FOR YOUNG AMERICA.

What Little Boys and Girls Will Wear the Coming Summer.

Shades of brown are much used for girls' dresses. Besides the favorite tobacco brown there are various tones of tan, and these light shades, in serge especially, wear well and will even bear washing, although brown was formerly considered, and with good reason, a tint not to be depended upon. It used to be prone to fade in the sun and spot in the rain and "run" if it

CHILDREN'S COSTUMES.

got wet, but the new browns seem to be as fast as any other color. Scotch plaids are also sold for children's wear and are always pretty and suitable, whether the scarlet mixture be selected or the darker ones of blue, green or brown. The red plaids are soft in color in spite of their brightness and are very pretty for young or little girls' frocks, trimmed with rows of narrow black velvet ribbon. Little French girls are wearing straw hats trimmed with wide plaid ribbon and cream lace.

A good model for a child's dress in thin wool goods is shown, having a sailor blouse with a wide collar, puffed sleeves with deep cuffs and an accordion plaited skirt.
Accordion plaiting is still used for women as well as children and seems to be a permanent addition to the wardrobe. It is shown again in a long serge coat for a little girl. The body of the coat is plain, but an accordion plaited cape mounted on a round yoke is worn over it. Jackets have been brought out for very small children, to be slipped on over the thin white frocks on cool days. One was of fine sky blue flannel cut with a wide collar. It was trimmed with white lace and had a double row of pearl buttons in front. Another was of striped stuff and was exactly like a sailor's pea jacket, except that it was only about 10 inches long and narrow in proportion.

The boy's suit in the accompanying cut is made of dark blue cheviot. The jacket is worn open over a vest of striped jersey material. The girl's costume is of hazel nut brown serge. The skirt is trimmed with bands of narrow black velvet ribbon.
The full bodice fastens behind, and the waist is cinched by a sash of black velvet ribbon. The sleeve has a balloon puff from shoulder to elbow, ending in a ruffle trimmed with velvet ribbon. A wide collar covers the shoulders, and a standing collar of velvet finishes the neck.

JUDITH CHOLLET.

Captain Seay Exonerated.

RICHMOND, April 28.—A general order has been issued from the adjutant general's office here exonerating Captain Seay and his battery from the charges preferred against them by members of other military organizations in Lynchburg. The order mildly reprimands those who preferred the charges.

Polk Miller's Recital.

POLK MILLER, who will appear at the Academy of Music on Thursday evening, May 10th, has a host of friends and admirers who will be delighted to have the opportunity of hearing him in his now famous recital on "The Old Virginia Plantation Negro." Mr. Miller has met with almost phenomenal success since he has taken up the role of "Entertainer," and his time is completely taken up until the middle of July. He starts at Roanoke on an extended tour through the South, taking in the principal cities during May. Mr.
Miller has received most flattering notices wherever he has appeared.

Important Announcement.

Messrs. HEIKONIMUS & BRUGH make a special announcement this morning on the eighth page of this issue, calling attention to the large and varied stock of new dress fabrics for the season just placed on sale by them. This progressive firm, in the face of the great general depression in business, have not slowed their pace in the slightest and this season are showing a larger and more carefully selected collection of dress stuffs than ever before. Their idea of doing business on the broad principle of standard goods at close margins of profit has attracted to them a large trade, and, we have no doubt, the announcement of this morning will receive its own reward.
